

Purposeful Collaboration is the Key to Drive Results

A Summary of Findings from A Survey to Form a Baseline for Collaboration (2021)

Respondent Information

Establishing a baseline

I understand the difference between outcomes and outputs.

51%

of nonprofits strongly agree

86%

of foundations strongly agree

89%
agree

Funders and grantees should define success of a program together.

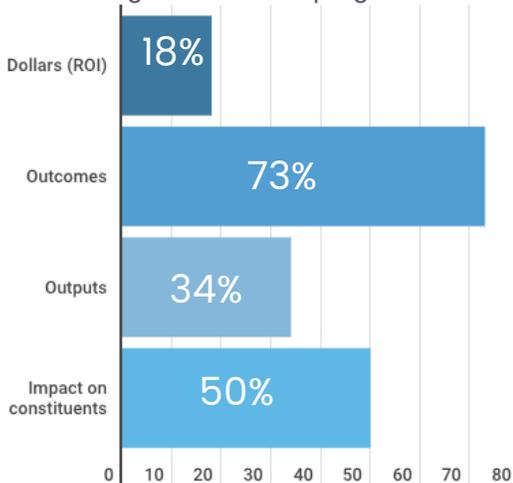

86%
strongly agree

It is important to track metrics throughout the duration of my program.

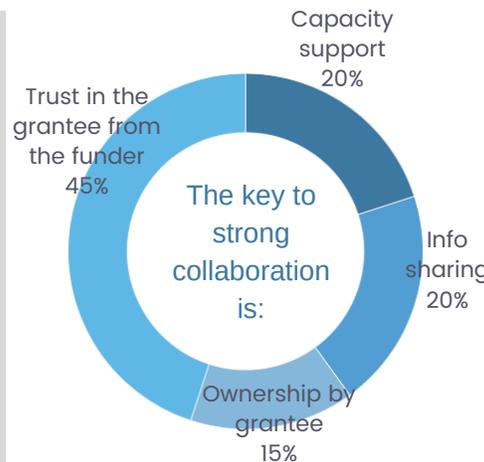

82%
strongly agree

It is important to track qualitative data.

What metrics do you reference when evaluating success of a program?

Note: Multi-select available for this question

Foundations prioritize trust and ownership. Nonprofits prioritize capacity support and information sharing.

In what area would improved collaboration have the most impact?

Note: Multi-select available for this question

Read the full report here.